Linguistic Symptom Training App

Creative Works
Self-paced mobile training app for students and professionals in speech language pathology that allows users to identify and categorize simulations of real-world linguistic symptoms.

Technology Type
- Curriculum
- Software
- Education Technology App

Stage of Development
- Prototype developed using Android open source.
- Next steps include developing next version prototype.
- Additional functionality needed to improve user interface.

IP Protection
Copyright Registration in Progress.

Features and Benefits
- Easy to use.
- Simulates real speech patterns and sentence structures to familiarize users with real world examples.
- Increases accuracy of speech disorder diagnoses. Trials show over 90 percent accuracy.
- Facilitates continuing education for certified SLP clinicians.

Inventor Profile
Sean Redmond, Ph.D., C.C.C.-S.L.P., Professor – Communication Sciences and Disorders
Theresa Pfaff, Department of Linguistics

Date Updated: 2/7/2018